To whom it may concern;

Two of the most important business events in a dentist's life are the buying and selling of a first home and the buying and selling of a dental practice. After building my dental practice for 34 years I was very discriminating when I selected a transition specialist to sell my practice. Stuart Auerbach, a representative for ADS Florida, was the gentleman I chose. From the initial evaluation of my practice, to the final settlement of the purchase, his meticulous, methodical approach to the process ensured that both myself and the dentist who purchased the practice found the transaction seamless. This was truly a testament to Stuart as there were issues that came up that could have derailed or significantly postponed the sale of the practice. Stuart with his hands on pragmatic approach to problem solving and negotiations was able to keep the process moving forward to its conclusion. This is something that I will always be grateful to him for.

In summary what could have been a daunting task became a manageable experience due to Stuart's efforts. I would highly recommend anyone interested in selling their dental practice contact Stuart.

Respectfully,
